

knew where this lot was and he either took Hiss there, or he gave Hiss the address and Hiss went there, and to the best of my recollection of his description of that happening, he left the car there and simply went away and the man in charge of the station took care of the rest of it for him. I should think the records of that transfer would be traceable.

Mr. NIXON. Where was that?

Mr. CHAMBERS. In Washington, D. C., I believe; certainly somewhere in the District.

Mr. NIXON. You don't know where?

Mr. CHAMBERS. No; never asked.

Mr. NIXON. Do you recall any other cars besides those two?

Mr. CHAMBERS. No, I think he had the Plymouth when I broke with the whole business.

Mr. NIXON. You don't recall any other hobbies he had?

Mr. CHAMBERS. I don't think he had any other hobbies.

Mr. NIXON. Did they have a piano?

Mr. CHAMBERS. I don't believe so. I am reasonably sure they did not.

Mr. NIXON. Do you recall any particular pieces of furniture that they had?

Mr. CHAMBERS. The only thing I recall was a small leather cigarette box, leather-covered cigarette box, with gold tooling on it. It seems to me that box was red leather.

Mr. NIXON. Red leather cigarette box with gold tooling?

Mr. CHAMBERS. That is right.

Mr. NIXON. Do you recall any particular pieces of bedroom furniture they had?

Mr. CHAMBERS. No.

Mr. NIXON. Do you recall possibly what the silver pattern was, if any? Was it sterling?

Mr. CHAMBERS. I don't recall.

Mr. NIXON. Do you recall what kind of chinaware they used?

Mr. CHAMBERS. No. I have been thinking over these things and none of that stands out.

Mr. NIXON. What kind of cocktail glasses did they have?

Mr. CHAMBERS. We never drank cocktails.

Mr. NIXON. Did they drink?

Mr. CHAMBERS. They did not drink. They didn't drink with me. For one thing, I was strictly forbidden by the Communist Party to taste liquor at any time.

Mr. NIXON. And you didn't drink?

Mr. CHAMBERS. I never drank.

Mr. NIXON. As far as you know, they never drank, at least with you?

Mr. CHAMBERS. He gave cocktail parties in Government service.

Mr. NIXON. Could you describe Mr. Hiss' physical appearance for us?

Mr. CHAMBERS. Mr. Hiss, I should think, is about 5 feet 8 or 9, slender. His eyes are wide apart and blue or gray.

Mr. NIXON. Blue or gray?

Mr. CHAMBERS. I think they change.

Mr. NIXON. Sort of a blue-gray?

Mr. CHAMBERS. Blueish gray, you could say. In his walk, if you watch him from behind, there is a slight mince sometime.
